

Class Debate : Election of 1796

Student Name: _____

CATEGORY	5 or 4	3	2
Verbal (challenge or rebuttal)	Played role correctly, provided 2 pieces of clear and specific evidence to support position.	Played role correctly, provided 1 piece of clear and specific evidence to support position.	Did not play role correctly, but did include accurate historic information.
Written Position Statement	100 words or more, states position and logically supports with at least 2 example/evidence, accurate.	Less than 100 words, states position and logically supports with at least 2 example/evidence, accurate.	Less than 100 words, does not state position, uses accurate historic information.
Written statement on each speaker	Writer clearly states whether he or she agrees/disagrees, is correct in agreeing/disagreeing, and logically explains why with at least 2 examples	Writer clearly states whether he/she agrees/disagrees, is incorrect on agreeing/disagreeing, but uses accurate historic information when explaining why.	Writer does not clearly state whether he/she agrees/disagrees, but uses accurate historic information.

Written statement on each challenger	Accurately states whether their assigned person/group would have the same challenge or a different challenge, and if different, correctly writes what they would have said.	Accurately states whether their assigned person/group would have the same challenge or a different challenge, and if different, incorrectly writes what they would have said.	Accurately states whether their assigner person/group would have the same challenge or not but (if different) does not write what they would have said.
--------------------------------------	---	---	---

Date Created: Sep 24, 2013 08:31 am (CDT)

1
Did not play role correctly and did not provide accurate historic information.
Less than 100 words, does not state position, and does not use accurate historic information.
Writer does not clearly state whether he/she agrees/disagrees, and does not use accurate historic information

Does not accurately state whether they would have same or different challenge.